COP CONNECTED TO KLAN FAILED TO REPORT GUNS

Chicago Policeman Donald Heath, 30, reported as the head of the Ku Klux Klan in Illinois, apparently violated a police rule that requires officers to register firearms with the department, it was disclosed yesterday.

Capt. Raymond Clark, director of the police internal inspection division, said an investigation has shown that none of the cache of semi-automatic rifles, shotguns, and pistols seized last Thursday by police in a raid on Heath's home was registered with officials. Heath lives at 2055 N. Lawndale av.
